Buying your train ticket

Depending on how often you travel and the type of ticket you need, there are a number of different ways you can purchase your ticket:

At the ticket office
You can buy the full range of tickets from staffed ticket offices. This includes weekly, monthly and annual season tickets.

At the station
Ticket vending machines sell a range of tickets to popular destinations for immediate use.

From the conductor
If the station has no ticket machine or ticket office, or the ticket office is closed, you can buy your ticket from the conductor on the train.

Online
Advance, off-peak and standard anytime single and return tickets can be purchased directly from the train operator's website or various other travel sites.

On your mobile
Selected tickets can now be bought through mobile ticketing, providing a quick, easy and convenient way to buy your ticket while on the move.

It is a legal requirement to have a valid ticket or pass.

Travel more, pay less

The more frequently you use the train the more money you can save. For example, if you make the same journey more than three or four times a week, you could find that a weekly ticket saves you up to 20% when compared with the cost of buying a daily ticket. This equates to one free journey a week!

For more information on fares, please see the fare table to the right.

You will find prices for an adult single, return, weekly and cheap day return tickets from Darlington station to other select stations along the Bishop Auckland to Saltburn line.
